Country house in Albardanera Pedreguer bordering with Residencial La Sella and access to the excellent infrastructure La Sella is known and its service and leisure centre within walking distance.

Description

The country house has an old part which in 2002 was meticulously reconstructed in a rustic style with authentic materials and elements. This part directly adjoins the more modern two-storey part with a turret. Each of the two parts occupies approximately half of the total living area.

The plot is completely fenced, and is hidden by its own surrounding pine forest offering great privacy. The access provides three entrance gates leading to the finca and the garage which is attached to it.
